Where can I find resources for Connecticut history?

CT History: short, factual articles about CT history. Can be browsed by town, with a list of useful links and sources for each town. A great starting place for local history. connecticuthistory.org

Connecticut Explored: a magazine about state history with 20+ years of publishing. Click “Topics” to browse by topic. Hundreds of articles, easy format to navigate. ctexplored.org

Connecticut Digital Archive – Hosted by UCONN, this is a digital repository of a wide range of digital resources for cultural and state agencies in CT. A great source of images and documents that can be downloaded for use. Can be tricky to navigate. A revamped website is in production. ctdigitalarchive.org

Connecticut Museum of Culture and History: Our ‘emuseum’ allows users to search for digitized images of our collections (artifacts, photos and other graphics; not manuscripts).

Library of Congress: A HUGE catalogue of resources, national in scope but with lots of CT-specific stuff. Go to <https://www.loc.gov/pictures/> to search specifically for photos that have been digitized.
